

Quantifying Foreseeable Risk CLE Class

A One Hour Lunch and Learn Workshop Sponsored by The Taormina Group

THE WORKSHOP

This workshop will introduce Forensic Business Pathology,® a new set of tools for attorneys to quantify appropriate standard of care. In this class, attorneys for defendants and plaintiffs will see how the FBP® process will lower costs with more rapid resolution of difficult or complex litigation, and learn the power of FBP® from actual case studies.

THE BENEFITS

For the defense, these tools historically reduce the expense of forensic experts, laboratory reconstructions and drive cases to earlier and more equitable conclusions.

For the plaintiff, the cost of eminent experts can also be significantly reduced with a strategy more focused on the defendant company and their performance to known standards. This leads to the requisite formula that an accident is the sum of products, plus activity.

These sessions are typically less than two hours, with lunch provided by the sponsor and learning provided by The Taormina Group. CLE credit is presently available for California and Nevada.

THE TAORMINA GROUP

The principals of The Taormina Group are both former members of the Project Apollo team at NASA's Mission Control Center in Houston. Grady Ferguson went on to found, grow and sell two manufacturing and service companies that modeled excellence in risk avoidance. Tom Taormina became a pioneer in quality control engineering and has written ten books on quality and business management. Tom has synthesized their experiences into Forensic Business Pathology®, a new secret weapon in products liability and organizational negligence litigation. For litigators, they present a unique resource as proverbial "rocket scientists" with their experience and approach to successful civil litigation resolution.

The Taormina Group
Tom Taormina (Founder),
Patty Clawson (Marketing Director), and Grady Ferguson (CEO)

Contact The Taormina Group today and reserve your next CLE credit workshop.

877.226.9001

THE
TAORMINA  GROUP